Re: Inquiry Concerning 911 Access, Routing, and Location in Enterprise Communications Systems; PS Docket No. 17-239

Dear Ms. Dortch:

On Wednesday May 2, 2018 Thomas Ginter, Emergency Services Sales Engineer, Lydia Runnels, Vice President of Emergency Services and I of Bandwidth Inc. ("Bandwidth") met with David Furth, Rasoul Safavian, Michael Wilhelm, Erika Olsen, John Evanoff, Michael Connelly, Austin Randazzo, and Brenda Boykin at the Commission's offices. We were also joined by Jay Slater, Director of Emergency Services and Larry Reeder, Emergency Services Solutions Architect for Bandwidth via conference bridge.

During our meeting we discussed Bandwidth's efforts to support 9-1-1 with SIP PIDF-Lo solutions for ECS and other IP-enabled services in an evolving and increasingly mobile IP environment as related to the Commission's current Notice of Inquiry (NOI) into 9-1-1 emergency calling associated with Multi-Line Telephone Systems ("MLTS") or Enterprise Communications Services ("ECS"). Principally, Bandwidth provided its perspectives in response to a number of specific inquiries from the Commission staff during the meeting. Bandwidth used the attached presentation, which also includes a review of its emergency services that support ECS customers today and how 9-1-1 for IP-enabled services are evolving in the marketplace generally. Bandwidth encouraged the Commission to adopt rules that expressly acknowledge the validity of the NENA i3 standards regarding location object presentation in its ECS NOI in particular and embrace innovative uses of IP-enabled emergency calling in general.

In accordance with Section 1.1206(b), this ex parte notification is being filed electronically for inclusion in the public record of the above proceeding. Should there be any questions or concerns regarding this filing, please direct them to the undersigned.

Sincerely,
/s/ Greg Rogers
Greg Rogers
